

Student Name: _____

Date: _____

Psy403 Psychology of Personality

Describe what you think is the primary motivator of human behavior? What makes people do whatever they do?

What do you think explains the differences (and similarities) you see in people's personalities?

What do you see as the major dimensions or traits on which homo sapiens differ?

Do you think that personality is stable over time? Why do you think this?